SHORT HISTORY

Kollam, an old sea port town on the Ashtamudi lake. Kollam the erstwhile Desinganadu, had a sustained commercial reputation from the days of the Phoenicians and the Romans. Fed by the Chinese trade, it was regarded by Ibn Batuta, as one of the chief ports, which he had seen in the course of his travels during a period of twenty four years, in the 14th Century.

Herman Gundart is of the opinion that the "Kolla Varsham" started with the erection of a 'Siva' temple at Kollam. As its origination was strictly local and religious, "Kolla Varsham" was not accepted by the people living in other countries. But, when Kollam bacame a major trade centre, the traders and the people of other countries began to follow "Kolla Varsham". This further strengthens the statement of Ibn Batuta.

The rulers of Kollam (Desinganadu) and China, exchanged embassies and there was a flourishing Chinese settlement at Kollam. Merchant Sulaiman of Siraf in Persia (9th Century) found Kollam to be the only port in India, touched by the huge Chinese junks, on his way from Canton to Persian Gulf. Marco Polo, the great Venician traveller, who was in Chinese Service under Kublahan in 1275, visited Kollam and other towns on the west coast, in his capacity as a Chinese mandarin.

The Portughese were the first Europeans to establish a trading centre at Kollam in 1502. Then came Dutch followed by the British in 1795. A British garrison was stationed at Kollam in pursuance of a treaty between Travancore and the British.

Velu Thampi Dalawa of Travancore, did much for the improvement of Kollam town. He built new bazars and invited merchants from Madras and Tirunelveli to settle here. Kollam later became the capital of the enlightened and liberal rulers of Desinganadu. It was also the nerve centre of the rebellion organised by Velu Thampi against the British.

Once a city of palaces, Kollam has been known to the outside world, by the time-honored proverb, "Once you have seen Kollam you would no more need your illam (home)".

ADMINISTRATION

The history of the district as an administrative unit can be traced back to 1835, when the Travancore State consisted of two revenue divisions Kollam and Kottayam with headquarters at Kollam. At the time of the integration of Travancore and Cochin in 1949, Kollam was one of the three revenue divisions in the State. These three revenue divisions were converted into districts. Shencottah taluk was merged with Madras State consequent on the implementation of the State Reorganization Act of 1956.

When Alappuzha district was formed in 1957, Chertala, Ambalapuzha, Mavelikkara, Karthikappally, Chengannur and Thiruvalla taluks of Kollam district were united to the new district. When Pathanamthitta district was formed on 1st July 1983, the entire Pathanamthitta taluk and nine villages of Kunnathur Taluks of the district were also removed. Now the district has a single revenue division with headquarters at Kollam. Pathanapuram, Kunnathur, Kottarakkara, Karunagappally and Kollam are the five taluks in the district. The district is divided into thirteen development blocks. Paravoor and Punalur are two municipal towns and Kollam is the Municipal Corporation.

dance form of Kathakali in its new version of Ramanattam was the creation of Kottarakkara Thampuran, who also improved Krishnanattam by substituting Malayalam for Sanskrit.

His Kesaveeyam, a Mahakavyam, is of outstanding literary importance. In the history of Malayalam music, he has a prominent place as a gifted composer of songs.
