BRIEF HISTORY

Thrissur with its rich history, cultural heritage and archaeological wealth is called the cultural capital of Kerala. From ancient times, this district has played a significant role in the political history of South India. Many rulers and dynasties beginning with the Zamorins of Kozhikode, Tipu Sultan of Mysore and Europeans including the Dutch and the British have had a hand in moulding the destiny of this region. Raja Rama Varma, popularly known as Sakthan Thampuran was the architect of the present Thrissur Town.

The word 'TRICHUR' is the anglicised version of Thrissur which again is the abbreviated form of 'Thrissivaperur' meaning the abode of Lord Siva. The district got its name from the headquarters town. It has recently shed its anglicised name and is now known as 'Thrissur'.

Thrissur District has played a significant role in the history of South India from the pre-historic period to the modern times. Scholars assign the age of the megalithic monuments found in various parts of the district to a period ranging from the third century B.C to the first century A.D or even earlier.

The district played a very important role in fostering trade relations between Kerala and outside world in the ancient and medieval periods. The district also helped to pave the foundation for a composite culture in this part of the country. The sea port of Muziris of the Sangam age is the modern Kodungallur of Thrissur district. It had the unique distinction of being 'Primum Emporium India'. It played host to the three communities of Christians, Jews and the Muslims who contributed to the prosperity of "Malabar". It attracted traders from all over the world viz. Assyrians, Babylonians, Phoenicians, Egyptians, Greeks, Romans, Chinese and Arabs.

During the Sangam age (the first four or five centuries of the Christian era) the whole of the present Thrissur district came under the early Chera Empire. After the Sangam age till the beginning of the 9th century A.D hardly anything is known about the history of Kerala or that of the district. The history of the district from the 9th to the 12th centuries is the history of Kulasekhara of Mahodayapuram and the history since the 12th century is synonymous with the history of the rise and growth of Perumpadappu Swarupam. The Cheras had established their capital at Mahodayapuram which was later moved to Kollam (Quilon) by Rama Varma Kulasekhara Perumal, the last ruler of the second Chera Empire.

But Mahodayapuram continued to enjoy its importance as the seat of Perumpadappu Swarupam for three more centuries from the 13th to the 15th century. Though the early history of the Perumpadappu Swarupam prior to 1500 A.D is not available, the view is that the Perumpadappu Moopil or the ruler of Cochin was the son of a sister of the last Kulasekhara and was hence considered as the direct heir under matrilineal system. This linkage of the Perumpadappu Swarupam with the Kulasekharas of Mahodayapuram had won it the respect and allegiance of the chieftains and of the people, though it was not a major political power till the advent of the Portuguese.

As result of the heavy floods of 1341 A.D the harbour at Kodungallur got completely silted and the port became unfit for trade. In the very same flood the narrow sand banks which separated Cochin from the backwaters were washed off and the present Cochin harbour emerged. And in course of time the traders at Kodungallur migrated to Cochin and the importance of Kodungallur started dwindling.

One of the landmarks in the history of Perumpadappu Swarupam is the commencement of a new era called Pudu Vaipu Era, which commemorates the formation of Vaipin islands consequent on the great deluge.

The 14th and the 15th centuries constituted periods of aggressive wars. During this period the Zamorin of Calicut (belonging to Nediyiruppa Swarupam) was aiming at the political suzerainty of the region, which led to war between the Perumpadappu and the Nediyiruppa Swarupams. In the wars fought in the 14th and the 15th centuries, the Zamorin occupied large parts of the present Thrissur district. Taking advantage of the dissensions in the Perumpadappu Swarupam, the Zamorin defeated the then ruler of Cochin and took possession of the palace at Thrissur and had a ruler of his choice was installed on the throne of Cochin.

When Pedro Alvarez Cabral, the Portuguese Captain came to Cochin on the 24th December, 1500, the ruler of Cochin who had enmity with Zamorin, welcomed him warmly and gave him all trading facilities. This distressed the Zamorin who demanded the expulsion of the Portuguese from Cochin territory. When this was not conceded to, war broke out between the forces of Zamorin and the forces of Cochin assisted by the Portuguese. But in 1513 and again in 1540 the Portuguese entered into treaties with the Zamorins against the wishes of the ruler of Cochin.

The Portuguese continued to dominate the scene till the beginning of the 17th century when its power in Kerala started declining. Internal dissension in the Perumpadappu Swarupam around this period helped the Dutch in getting a footing on the Kerala coast. Kerala Chieftains had aware of the impending doom of the Portuguese and so they looked upon the Dutch as the rising power and welcome them whole heartedly.

The Dutch conquered the port of Cranganore (Kodungallur) and installed Prince Vira Kerala Varma Mootha Thavazhy on the throne of Cochin and entered into a treaty with him. The treaties of 1673 to 1674 gave the Dutch more powers and this triggered off internal dissension in the royal house. The Zamorin along with the Dutch fought against Portuguese and conquered them from places like Mapranam, Arattupuzha, Urakam, Korattikara, Kadavallur etc. These places were not, however, initially handed over to the Raja of Cochin as the Zamorin insisted on the war expenses being met by the former. But later when the Zamorin invaded Irinjalakuda, the Dutch was forced to drive him back and Cochin territories occupied by the Zamorin were handed over to Cochin ruler in 1710. Some more territories of Cochin still remained with the Zamorin which the Dutch took over from him and handed over to Raja Rama Varma after defeating the Zamorin in 1718 with the help of the Raja of Cochin. But the Zamorin again attacked Cochin during 1755-57 and by 1758 the whole of present Thrissur district except a small portion of Thrissur taluk came under the possession of the Zamorin. But King Kerala Varma (1760-75) entered into a treaty with Travancore and defeated Zamorin and took back from him the entire Cochin territory except Perumpadappu and a few other villages in Vanneri before 1763.

From 1769 to 1805 Raja Rama Varma popularly known as Sakthan Thampuram, was at the helm of affairs of Cochin state, though he actually ascended the throne in 1790. He cut the chieftains to size and revamped the administration. However, during his period, Haider Ali of Mysore invaded Cochin and it became a vassalage of Mysore. After Haider Ali's death Tippu Sultan ascended the throne of Mysore. As the king of Cochin declined to co-operate with Mysore in attacking Travancore, Tippu got sore with Cochin and attacked internally the state from Coimbatore side in 1789. The huge Mysore army devastated areas of the present Thrissur district. Tippu made Thrissur as the headquarters of the areas conquered by him in Kerala. But when Tippu had to make retreat on account of the Srirangapattanam war, the Raja of Cochin entered into a treaty with the East Indian Company. In 1809, the then ruler of Cochin who succeeded Sakthan Thampuran was forced to sign a new treaty with the East India Company, which obliged Cochin to be a subsidiary ally of the British. The period from 1812 in which year Munro was made the Devan of Cochin marked the beginning of a new era of administrative progress.

Thrissur district was in the forefront of the freedom struggle also. In 1919 a Committee of the Indian National Congress had started functioning at Thrissur. In the Civil Disobedience Movement of 1921 several persons courted arrest in Thrissur town and elsewhere in the district. The famous Guruvayoor Satyagraha (1931-32) under the leadership of Sri. K. Kelappan and Sri. A.K. Gopalan roused all round awareness against untouchability and helped the Temple Entry Movement gain momentum in the district. In 1937 a political conference was held at Thrissur under the presidentship of Pattabhi S. Setharamayya.

The state experimented on a type of diarchal system of government in which the administration of certain departments was entrusted with an elected member of the legislature to be nominated by Maharaja. Accordingly, Ambat Sivarama Menon of Cochin Congress party became Minister in 1938. But the people were not satisfied with the system and there were agitations for full responsible government based on adult franchise. On the 26th January 1941 a new political organisation called 'Cochin State Praja Mandalam' which subscribed to the aims and objects of Indian National Congress, was formed under the leadership of Sri. V. R. Krishnan Ezhuthassan. The first session of Praja Mandalam was held at Irinjalakuda in January 1942 in the face of measures by the government to prevent it from taking place.

The district was active in the Quit India Movement also. On the 15th August 1942 a public meeting was held at Thrissur to protest against the arrest of Mahatma Gandhi.

Following the decision of the Maharaja of Cochin to transfer all departments of the state government except Law and Order and Finance to the control of Ministers responsible to the state legislature the first popular government of Cochin, consisting of Panampally Govinda Menon, C.R. Iyyunni, K. Ayyappan and T.K. Nair assumed office. Cochin achieved full responsible government after Indian attained Independence in August 1947.

Thrissur District fostered very close link with Aikya Kerala (United Kerala) Movement. The concept of Aikya Kerala was conceived as early as 1928 at the State People's Conference held at Ernakulam. The Cochin Legislative Council which met on the 29th July 1946 under Sri. Kerala Varma, the Maharaja of Cochin, favoured the formation of Kerala State. A sub-committee under the Presidentship of Sri. K.P. Kesava Menon constituted for the purpose met at Cheruthuruthy in late 1946 and resolved to convene an Aikya Kerala Conference. The conference was accordingly held at Thrissur in April 1947. The then Maharaja of Cochin participated in the conference and declared himself in favour of the formation of United Kerala comprising of three administrative units of Malabar, Cochin and Travancore.

The amalgamation of Travancore and Cochin states was done on the 1st July 1949 and the formation of Aikya Kerala later on the 1st November 1956.

The present Thrissur district is a part of erstwhile Cochin state. Cochin state had formerly been divided into 'Nadus'. Each Nadu was under a chief. This position continued till the regaining of territories from Zamorin in 1763. These Nadus were subsequently divided into 'Kovilakathumvathukkals' or Taluks. Each Taluk was under the control of 'Karyakkars' exercising both judicial and executive powers. The Taluks were further divided into 'Pravarthis'. This lowest unit of administration was managed by 'Pravarthiars' assisted by 'Menons' or Accountants and 'Chandrakkars' or cash-keepers. The taluks were grouped into two divisions – Vadakkemugham and Thekkemugham. Each division was under the control of a 'Sarvadhikaryakkars'. The Cochin areas in the present Thrissur district formed part of the Vakakkemugham or the northern sub-division. Valiya Sarvadhikaryakkars or Prime Minister was the head of the administration. The then Cochin state comprised of 10 Kovilakathumvathukkals (or taluks) viz. Cochin, Kanayannur, Cranganore (Kodungallur), Mukundapuram, Kodasseri, Talappilly, Chelakkara, Enamakkal, Thrissur and Chittoor. In 1860 the number of taluks was reduced. With effect from the 1st July 1949 a new district named Thrissur was formed with 6 taluks of the erstwhile Cochin State viz. Talappilly, Chittoor, Thrissur, Mukundapuram, Cranganore and Cochin-Kanayannur and taluks of erstwhile Travancore areas, namely, Kunnathunad and Parur.
