Preface

Price analysis serves as a crucial tool for measuring relative movements in economic and social variables. It is an established technique for estimating general trends in prices, production, and other key indicators that influence economic planning and policy formulation. Among these tools, index numbers hold particular significance, as they form the backbone of informed decision-making in both public and private sectors.

The Department of Economics & Statistics plays a central role in collecting, compiling, and analysing various categories of price data. These data are typically classified into three broad categories: wholesale prices, retail prices, and miscellaneous prices. The systematic collection and analysis of these prices provide critical insights into market behaviour and economic conditions, and serve as the foundation for computing a range of economic indicators.

This report, titled "Report on Analysis of Miscellaneous Prices - 2021", offers a comprehensive examination of price trends for a variety of commodities. It includes the analysis of 50 essential items, 20 additional commodities, and 28 weekly prices of essential goods, alongside other miscellaneous items such as waste paper, scrap materials, cocoa, spices, salt, coir, and coconut husk. The scope of this report reflects the Department's on-going commitment to capturing a broad and clear picture of price movements across the economy.

The preparation of this report is the result of dedicated efforts by the officers of the Price Division within this Directorate. I extend my sincere appreciation to Shri. Rajendran Nair S., Assistant Director, for his meticulous work in compiling and preparing this report. Any suggestion for improving this report will be appreciated.

Data analysis of Miscellaneous Price based on Price Statistics 2021

This report presents a comprehensive analysis of price data, which is broadly categorized into two key types: Wholesale Prices and Retail Prices. These data serve as vital inputs for the computation of various economic indicators and provide a clear picture of price movements within the economy.

The process of price collection and analysis covers a wide range of items essential to daily life and economic activity. Specifically, this report analyzes:

- Prices of 20 items
- Prices of 28 items
- Prices of 50 essential items
- Wholesale and Retails Fruits
- Miscellaneous items, including the prices of waste paper, scrap materials, cocoa, spices, salt, coir, and coconut husk

REPORT OF 20 ITEMS

Coffee Brooke Bond (₹/500gm)

The prices of Coffee Brooke Bond Green Label (500 g) across Kerala remained largely stable throughout the year, with only a gradual decline observed during the latter months. Most districts reported prices in the range of ₹150 to ₹170 for much of the year. Thiruvananthapuram showed a reduction from ₹165.00 in the first half of the year to ₹152.00 from August onwards, resulting in a yearly average of ₹159.37. Kollam and Wayanad maintained relatively higher and stable prices, each recording a yearly average of ₹162.92. Alappuzha consistently reported a uniform price of ₹150.00 throughout the year. Kottayam recorded the highest yearly average at ₹168.60, with a slight increase to ₹175.20 in December. The state average price gradually declined from ₹151.84 in January to ₹144.66 in December, yielding an overall yearly average of ₹149.00, indicating marginal softening of prices over the year.

Mace

The price of mace in Kerala varied significantly across districts throughout the year. Thrissur recorded the highest yearly average at ₹1709.32, followed by Kottayam at ₹1591.46, Wayanad at ₹1508.75, and Idukki at ₹1184.77. Prices peaked between February and May, with Kottayam reaching ₹2062.50 in March. Certain months recorded no trade (NT) or were affected by lockdowns, impacting the monthly averages. The overall state-level average price was ₹1498.57, indicating moderate fluctuations with the highest prices observed in the first half of the year.

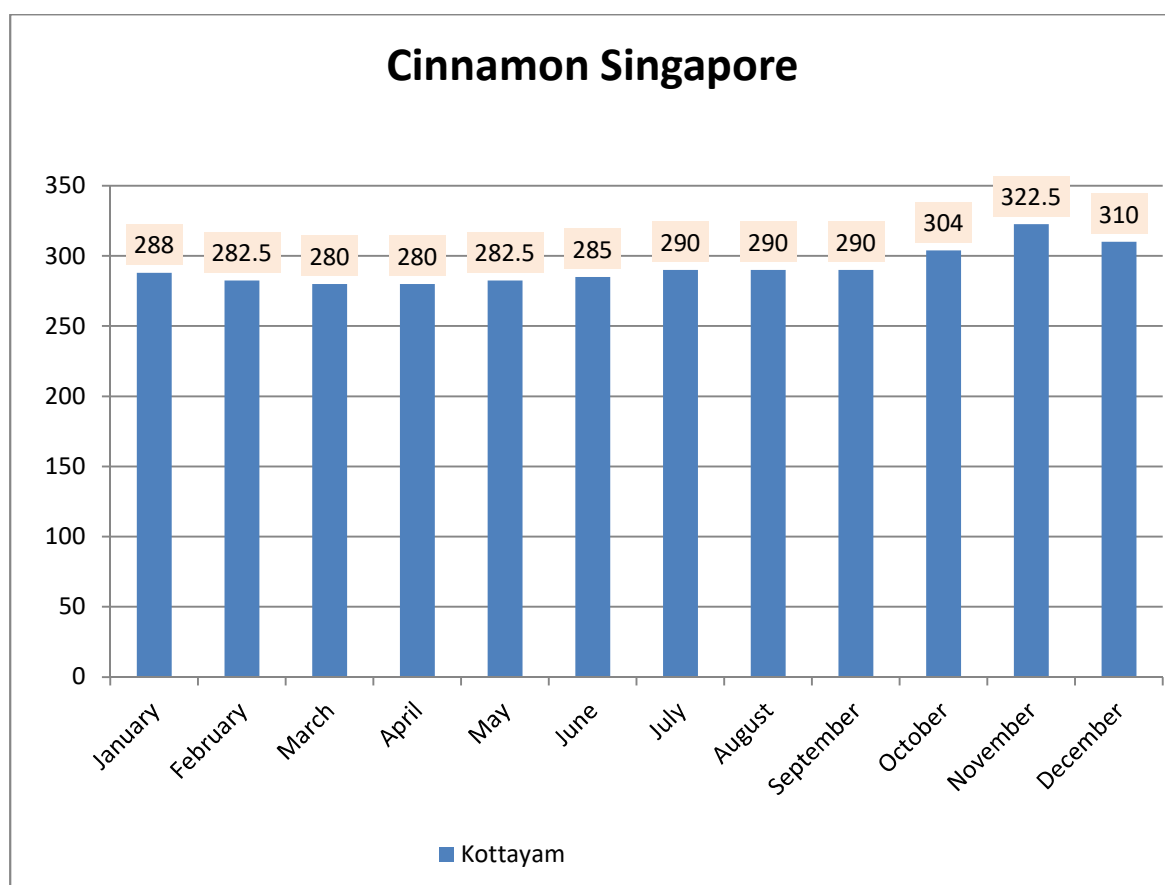

Table 230-illustrates the dataset pertaining to the Weekly Prices of Spices.

Cinnamon Singapore

The price of Singapore cinnamon in Kottayam remained relatively stable throughout the year, ranging from ₹280 to ₹322.50 per unit. The yearly average price was ₹292.04, with a slight upward trend observed towards the end of the year, peaking in November at ₹322.50. Overall, the prices showed minimal fluctuations, reflecting steady market conditions for this variety of cinnamon.

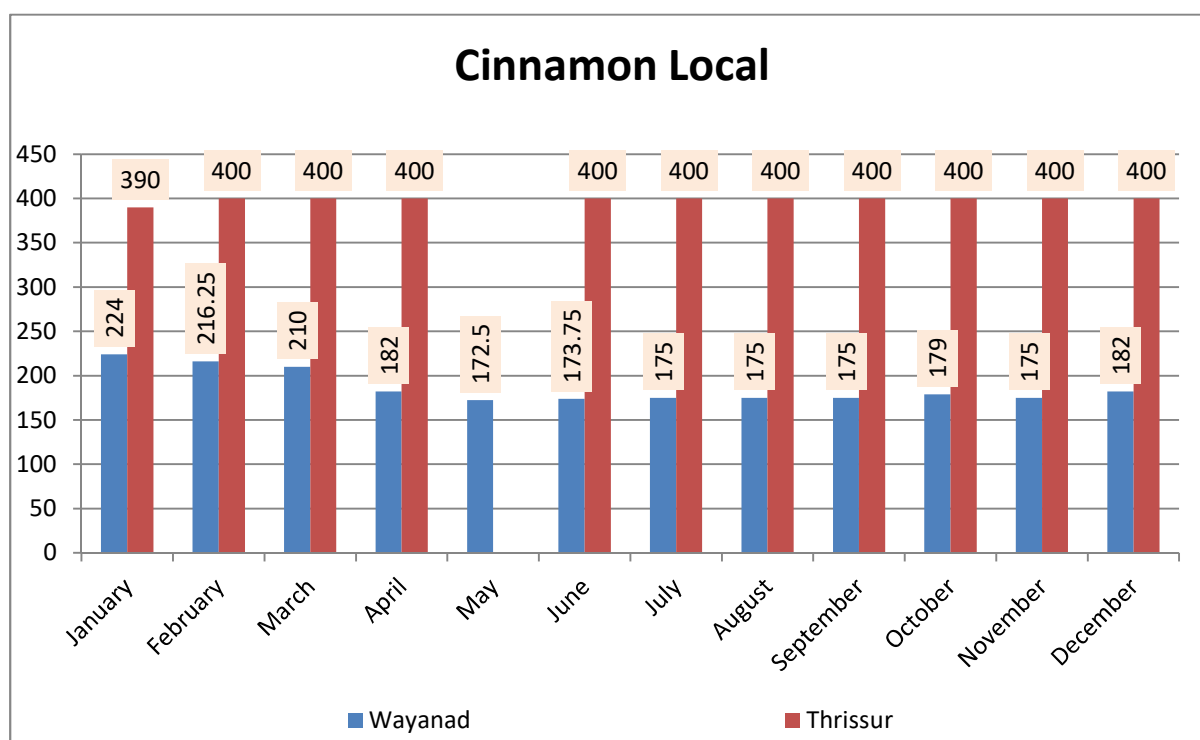

Table 231-illustrates the dataset pertaining to the Weekly Prices of Spices.

Cinnamon Local

The price trend of local cinnamon shows clear regional variation between Wayanad and Thrissur over the year. In Wayanad, prices followed a generally declining pattern from January (₹224) to May (₹172.5), after which they remained relatively stable, fluctuating narrowly between ₹173.75 and ₹182 during the rest of the year. This stability in the second half reflects steady supply conditions, resulting in a yearly average price of ₹186.63. In contrast, Thrissur recorded significantly higher and more stable prices throughout the year, remaining at ₹390–₹400 in all months except May, when prices were not reported due to lockdown conditions. The consistent high price level in Thrissur led to a yearly average of ₹399.09. When both markets are considered together, the overall average price shows a moderate decline from January to April, a sharp dip in May influenced by lockdown effects, and a gradual recovery and stabilization from June onwards. The combined yearly average price stood at ₹292.86, indicating that high prices in Thrissur substantially influenced the overall market trend despite lower prices in Wayanad.

Cloves

The price trend of cloves across the selected markets shows a clear upward movement over the year, with some short-term fluctuations. In Idukki, prices declined from January (₹510) to February (₹462.5), recovered during March and April, and increased steadily from June onwards, reaching a peak in December (₹723), resulting in a yearly average of ₹595.39; prices were not reported in May. Kottayam recorded comparatively higher prices, showing a consistent rise from ₹556 in January to ₹754 in December, with a yearly average of ₹649.23. In Wayanad, prices remained relatively stable in the first half of the year, followed by a noticeable increase from July onwards, peaking at ₹714 in December, yielding a yearly average of ₹604.08. Thrissur maintained the highest and most stable prices throughout the year, remaining around ₹630–₹650 in all reported months, except May when prices were unavailable due to lockdown, leading to a yearly average of ₹646.93. Overall, the average price of cloves increased steadily from ₹559 in January to ₹710.25 in December, with a combined yearly average of ₹621.28, indicating strong demand and firm market conditions during the latter half of the year.

Pepper

The price movement of pepper across the major producing and trading centres shows a clear upward trend over the year, particularly during the second half. In Idukki, prices increased steadily from ₹345 in January to ₹396 in April, rose further from June onwards, and peaked at ₹524 in December, resulting in a yearly average of ₹412.82; prices were not reported in May. Kottayam followed a similar pattern, with moderate increases during the first half of the year and a sharp rise from November, reaching ₹538 in December, yielding a yearly average of ₹413.81. In Wayanad, prices remained relatively lower compared to other markets, increasing gradually from ₹331 in January to ₹513 in December, with a yearly average of ₹401.19. Thrissur recorded the highest and most stable prices throughout the year, maintaining levels around ₹475–₹490 for most months, except May when prices were unavailable due to lockdown, and rising sharply to ₹550 in December, leading to a yearly average of ₹494.57. Overall, the average price of pepper increased consistently from ₹371 in January to ₹531.25 in December, with a combined yearly average of ₹430.60, reflecting strong demand and tightening supply conditions towards the end of the year.

Cocoa beans wet

The price trend of wet cocoa beans in Idukki shows a mixed pattern with an overall decline during the middle of the year followed by a mild recovery towards the end. Prices increased steadily from ₹48 in January to a peak of ₹55 in April, indicating favorable market conditions during the early months. However, from May onwards, prices declined sharply, falling to ₹42 in June and reaching the lowest level of ₹35.5 in August, which may reflect increased arrivals or reduced demand during the monsoon period. After August, prices showed a gradual recovery, rising to ₹43.2 by December. Despite this late-year improvement, the prices remained below the early-year peak levels. The yearly average price stood at ₹44.01, suggesting that the mid-year price slump had a significant influence on the overall annual trend.

Cocoa beans dry

The price trend of dry cocoa beans in Idukki and Wayanad shows moderate fluctuations with relatively stable market conditions over the year. In Idukki, prices increased steadily from ₹171 in January to a peak of ₹190 in April. Thereafter, prices softened slightly and remained largely stable between ₹170 and ₹185 from May to December, resulting in a yearly average of ₹177.15. In Wayanad, prices were consistently lower than in Idukki, fluctuating within a narrower range from ₹142 to ₹160, with the lowest level recorded in October and a recovery towards December, yielding a yearly average of ₹152.04. The overall average price across both regions rose gradually from January to May, remained stable during the middle of the year, and showed a mild improvement towards the end of the year. The combined yearly average price stood at ₹164.59, indicating a generally balanced market with no extreme volatility during the period.

Cocoa with shell

The price trend of cocoa with shell shows a largely stable pattern in Wayanad with moderate fluctuations during the year. Prices remained constant at ₹8 per kg from January to April, indicating steady market conditions in the early part of the year. A sharp increase was observed from May to July, when prices rose to ₹10, suggesting improved demand or reduced availability during this period. Thereafter, prices declined slightly to ₹9.25 in August and further to ₹8 in September, before showing a gradual recovery in the last quarter. Prices increased to ₹8.2 in October, ₹9.75 in November, and peaked at ₹11.8 in December. Thrissur did not report prices for most months due to lockdown-related disruptions. Overall, the average price followed the same trend as Wayanad and resulted in a yearly average of ₹9.08, indicating a generally stable market with a clear improvement towards the end of the year.

Vanila

The price trend of vanilla shows a largely stable pattern across the reporting markets, with a noticeable increase during the second half of the year. In Idukki, prices remained constant at ₹22 from January to June, indicating steady market conditions in the first half of the year. From July onwards, prices increased sharply to ₹27 and remained at this level until December, resulting in a yearly average of ₹24.5. In Kottayam, prices were highly stable throughout the year, consistently recorded at ₹23 in all months, leading to a yearly average of ₹23. Thrissur did not report prices for most months due to lockdown-related disruptions. Overall, the average price across the markets stayed at ₹22.5 from January to June and increased to ₹25 from July to December, yielding a combined yearly average of ₹23.75. This trend indicates a stable vanilla market with improved price realization in the latter half of the year.

REPORT OF WASTE PAPER AND COIR

NEWS PAPER (ENGLISH)

The price trend of English newspapers across the state shows a steady and consistent increase over the year, reflecting rising input and distribution costs. At the state level, the average price increased gradually from ₹14.50 in January to ₹22.61 in October, before marginally easing to ₹22.14 in December, resulting in a yearly average of ₹19.12. Most districts followed a similar upward pattern, with sharper increases observed from mid-year onwards. Urban and commercially active districts such as Ernakulam, Alappuzha, Palakkad, Malappuram, and Kasargod recorded relatively higher prices, particularly in the second half of the year, while districts like Kannur and Wayanad started with lower prices but showed noticeable increases later. Temporary data gaps and non-reporting months in a few districts did not significantly affect the overall trend. Overall, the consistent rise in prices across almost all districts indicates a statewide upward revision in newspaper prices, with stronger price momentum evident during the latter half of the year.

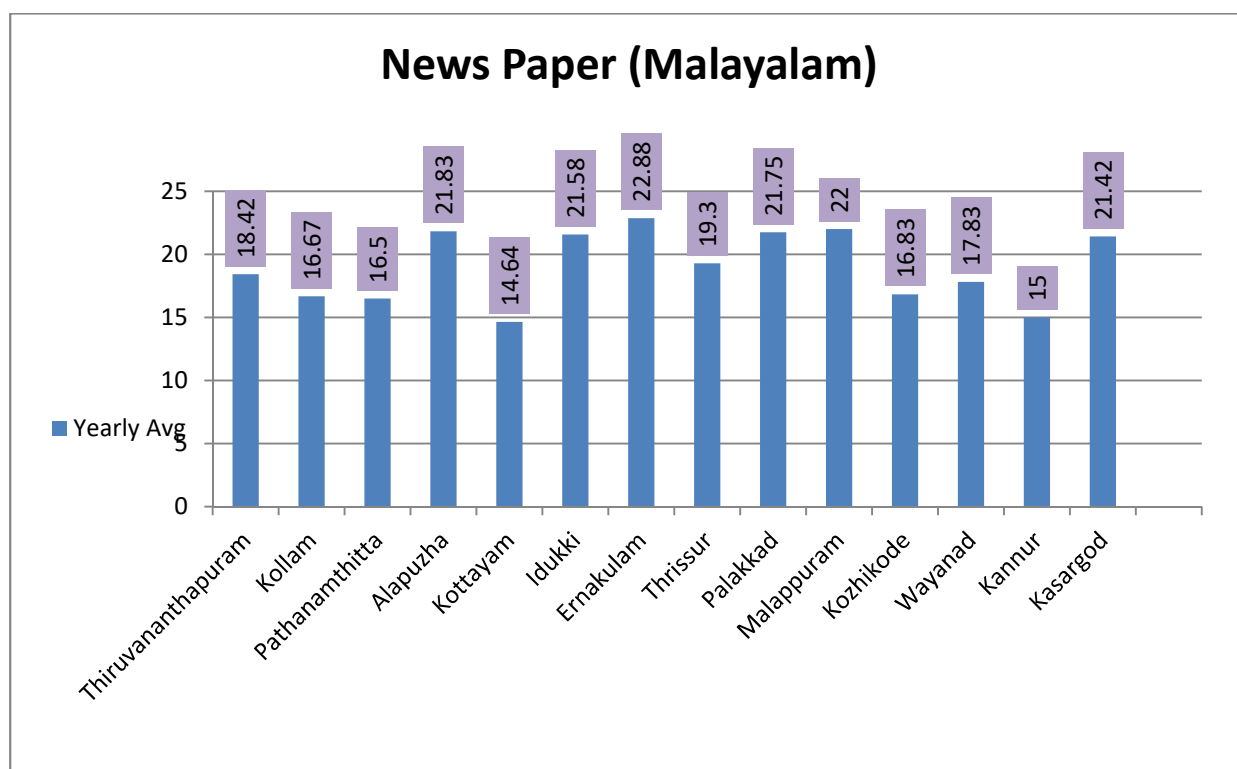

Table 239-illustrates the dataset pertaining to the REPORT OF WASTE PAPER AND COIR.

News Paper (Malayalam)

The price trend of Malayalam newspapers across the state shows a steady and widespread increase throughout the year, indicating a uniform upward revision in prices. At the state level, the average price rose gradually from ₹14.46 in January to ₹22.43 in October, before easing slightly to ₹22.11 in December, resulting in a yearly average of ₹19.05. Most districts followed a similar pattern, with relatively stable prices during the first quarter and sharper increases from mid-year onwards. Districts such as Ernakulam, Alappuzha, Palakkad, Malappuram, and Kasargod recorded higher price levels, particularly in the second half of the year, while Kannur and Wayanad, which started with lower prices, also showed noticeable increases over time. Temporary non-reporting in a few months, such as in Thrissur, did not significantly affect the overall trend. Overall, the consistent rise in prices across nearly all districts reflects increased production and distribution costs, with stronger price momentum observed during the latter half of the year.

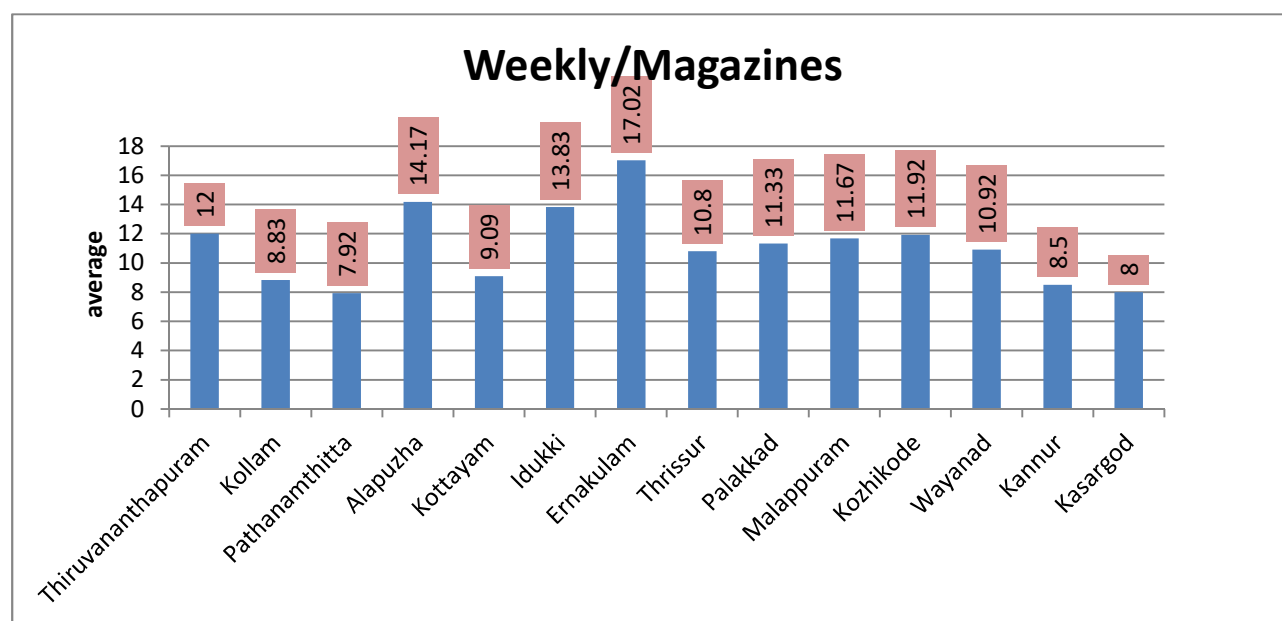

Table 240-illustrates the dataset pertaining to the REPORT OF WASTE PAPER AND COIR.

Weekly/Magazines

The price trend of weekly publications and magazines across the state shows a gradual and consistent increase over the year, reflecting rising printing and distribution costs. At the state level, the average price increased from ₹8.23 in January to ₹13.46 in October and ₹13.89 in December, resulting in a yearly average of ₹11.14. Most districts recorded relatively stable prices during the first quarter, followed by noticeable upward revisions from mid-year onwards. Districts such as Ernakulam, Alappuzha, Idukki, and Kozhikode showed sharper increases, particularly in the second half of the year, while districts like Kannur and Kasargod maintained comparatively lower and more stable prices. Temporary non-reporting in a few months, as seen in Thrissur and Kottayam, did not significantly affect the overall trend. Overall, the steady rise in prices across nearly all districts indicates a statewide upward adjustment in the cost of weekly publications and magazines, with stronger price momentum observed during the latter part of the year.

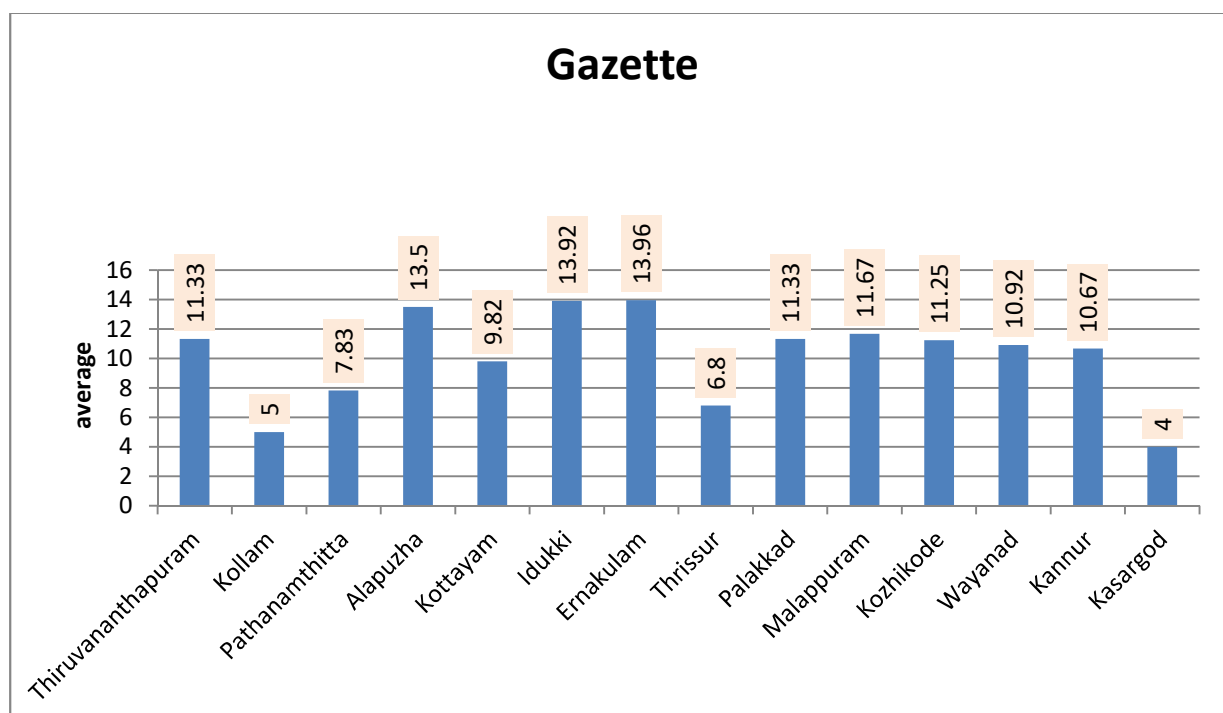

Table 241-illustrates the dataset pertaining to the REPORT OF WASTE PAPER AND COIR.

Gazette

The price trend of gazette publications across the state shows a gradual and sustained increase over the year, indicating periodic upward revisions. At the state level, the average price rose from ₹8.21 in January to ₹11.96 in October, before easing slightly to ₹12.00 in December, resulting in a yearly average of ₹10.14. Most districts recorded stable prices during the first half of the year, followed by noticeable increases from July onwards. Districts such as Ernakulam, Alappuzha, Idukki, Kozhikode, and Palakkad showed stronger price growth in the second half, while Kollam and Kasargod maintained consistently lower and unchanged prices throughout the year. Temporary non-reporting in a few months, as seen in Thrissur and Kottayam, did not significantly affect the overall trend. Overall, the steady rise in prices across the majority of districts reflects increased production and distribution costs, with clearer price escalation observed during the latter part of the year.

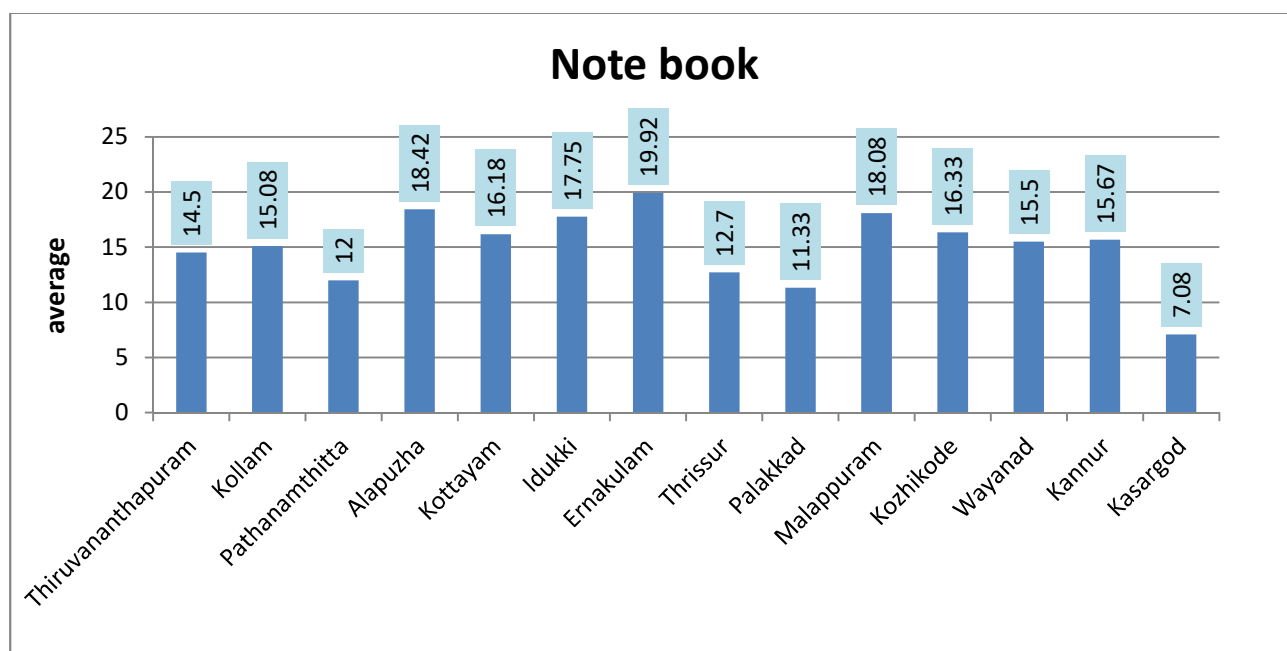

Table 242-illustrates the dataset pertaining to the REPORT OF WASTE PAPER AND COIR.

Note book

The price trend of notebooks across the state shows a gradual and consistent increase over the year, reflecting rising production and distribution costs. At the state level, the average price increased from ₹12.61 in January to ₹16.89 in December, resulting in a yearly average of ₹15.04. Most districts recorded relatively lower and stable prices during the first quarter, followed by noticeable upward revisions from March onwards. Districts such as Ernakulam, Alappuzha, Malappuram, Idukki, and Kozhikode reported higher price levels, particularly in the second half of the year, while Kasargod maintained consistently low and unchanged prices throughout the period. Temporary non-reporting in a few months, as seen in Thrissur and Kottayam, did not significantly affect the overall trend. Overall, the steady rise in notebook prices across the majority of districts indicates a statewide upward adjustment, with stronger price momentum observed during the latter part of the year.

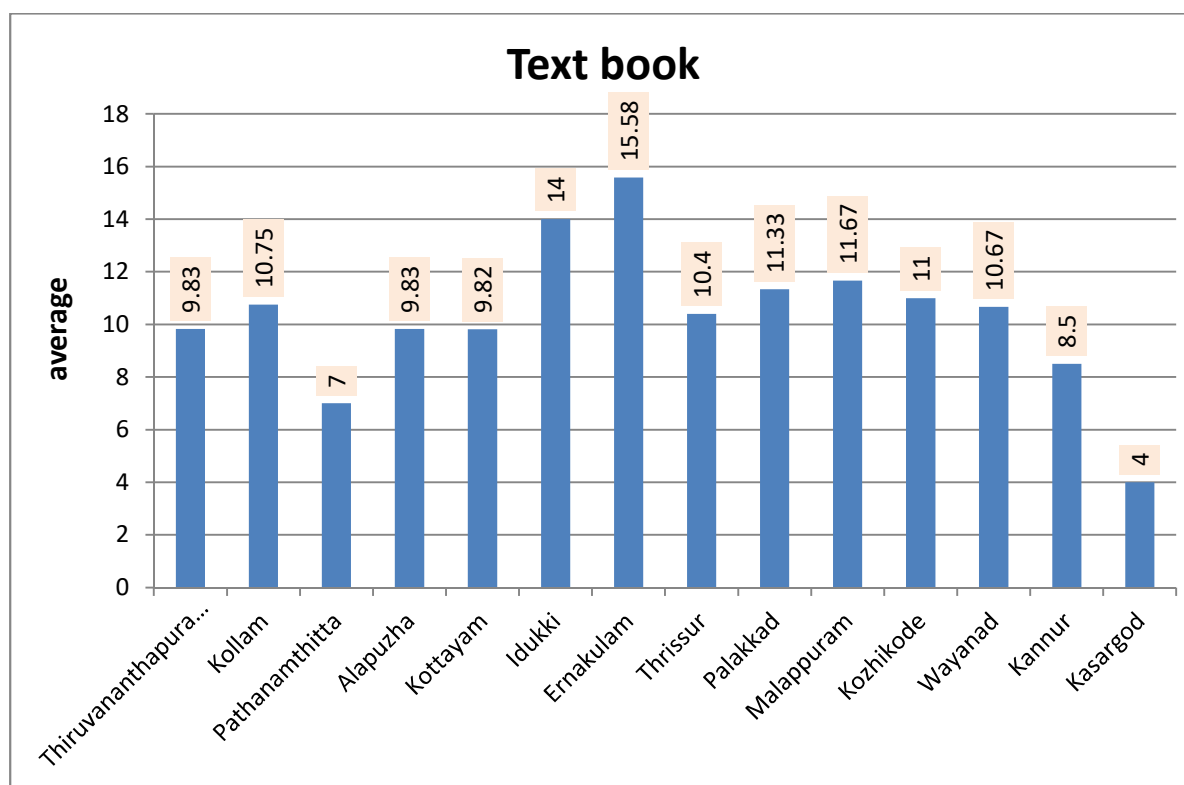

Table 243-illustrates the dataset pertaining to the REPORT OF WASTE PAPER AND COIR.

Text book

The price trend of textbooks across the state shows a gradual and steady increase over the year, reflecting periodic revisions and rising production costs. At the state level, the average price rose from ₹7.89 in January to ₹12.50 by November and December, resulting in a yearly average of ₹10.31. Most districts recorded lower and relatively stable prices during the first half of the year, followed by noticeable increases from July onwards, coinciding with the academic season. Districts such as Ernakulam, Idukki, Malappuram, Kozhikode, and Palakkad experienced sharper price rises in the second half of the year, while Kasargod maintained consistently low and unchanged prices throughout the period. Temporary non-reporting in a few months, as observed in Thrissur and Kottayam, did not significantly affect the overall trend. Overall, the consistent upward movement in textbook prices across most districts indicates a statewide increase, with stronger price momentum evident during the latter part of the year.

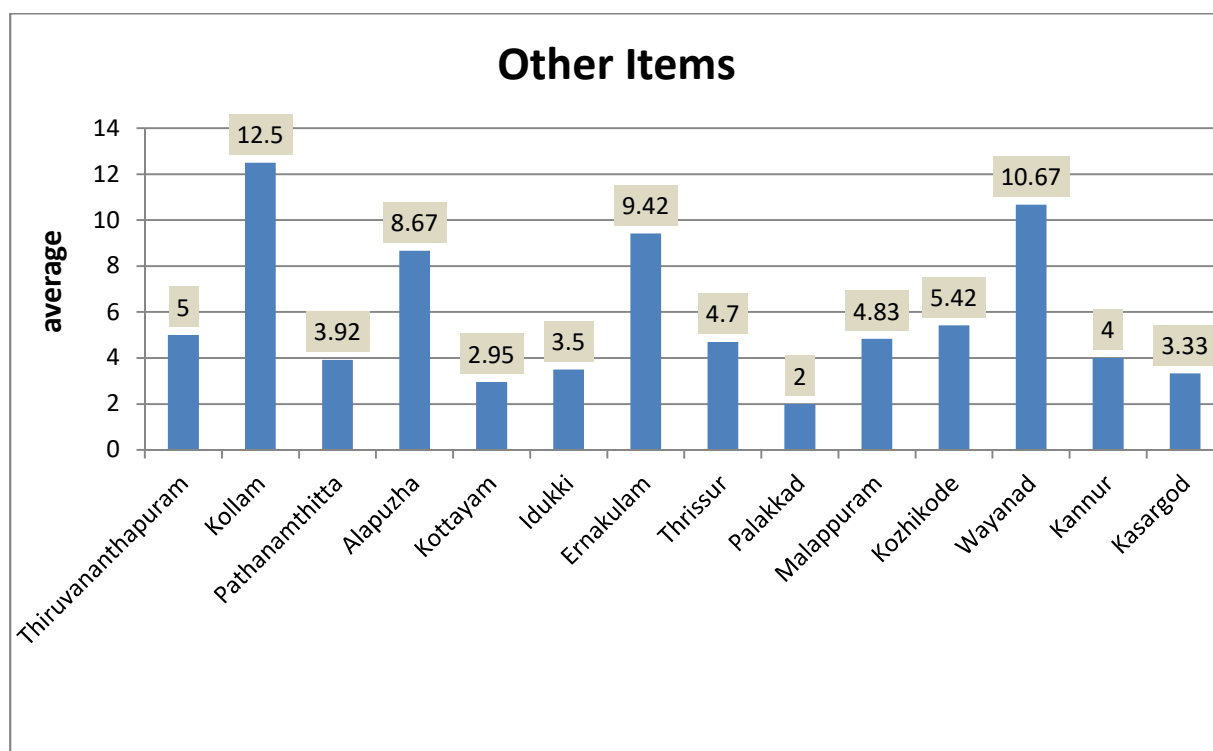

Table 244-illustrates the dataset pertaining to the REPORT OF WASTE PAPER AND COIR.

Other Items

The price trend of “Other Items” across the state shows moderate fluctuations with a gradual upward movement over the year. At the state level, the average price increased from ₹4.50 in January to ₹6.71 in October and ₹6.82 in December, resulting in a yearly average of ₹5.78. Several districts, such as Thiruvananthapuram and Palakkad, maintained stable prices throughout the year, while districts like Kollam, Alappuzha, Ernakulam, Kozhikode, and Wayanad recorded noticeable increases during the second half. Lower and relatively stable prices were observed in districts such as Kottayam, Idukki, Kannur, and Kasargod. Temporary non-reporting in a few months, as seen in Thrissur, did not significantly affect the overall trend. Overall, the gradual rise in prices towards the latter part of the year indicates increased costs and demand for miscellaneous items across the state.

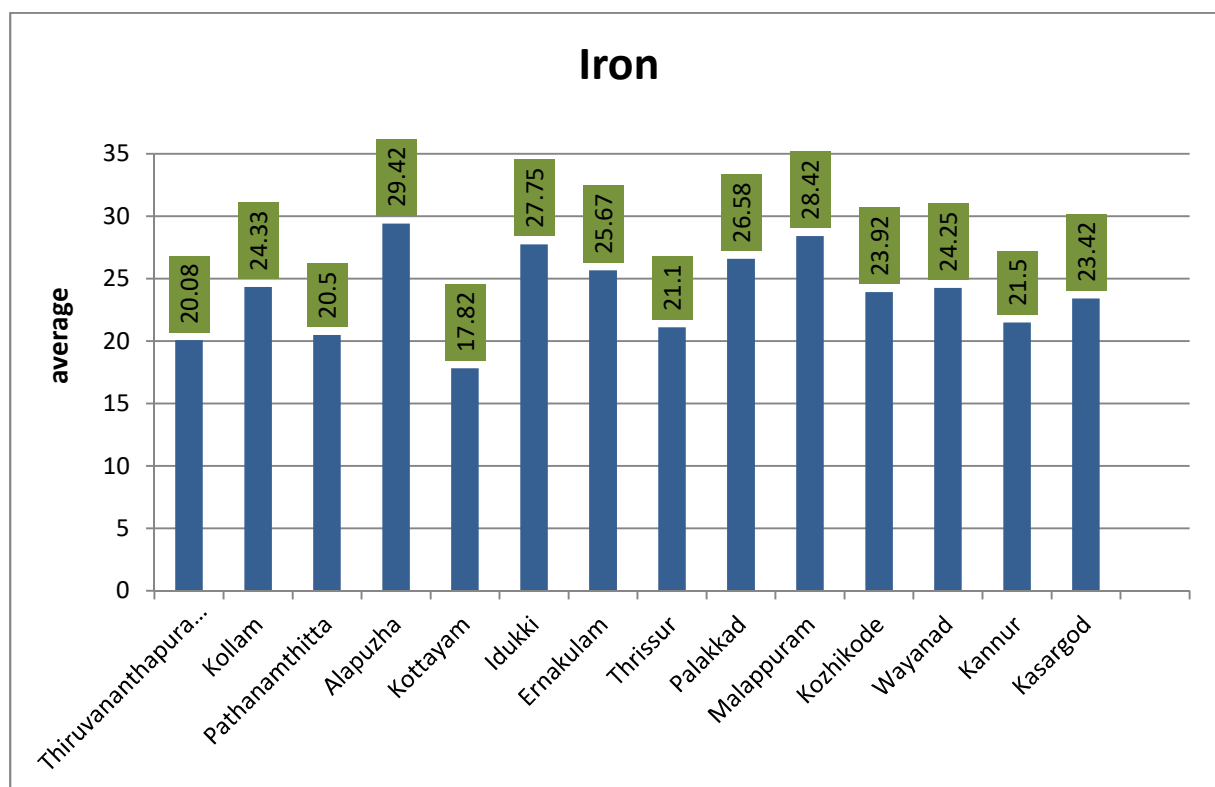

Table 245-illustrates the dataset pertaining to the REPORT OF Other Items.

Iron

The price trend of iron across the state shows a clear upward movement over the year, with some fluctuations across districts. At the state level, the average price increased steadily from ₹18.93 in January to ₹28.21 in October, before easing slightly to ₹26.50 in December, resulting in a yearly average of ₹23.91. Most districts recorded gradual price increases from the first quarter onwards, with sharper rises observed during the second half of the year. Districts such as Alappuzha, Malappuram, Palakkad, and Idukki consistently reported higher price levels, reflecting stronger demand or higher transportation costs. In contrast, districts like Kottayam and Kannur showed comparatively moderate price levels, while temporary non-reporting in Thrissur did not significantly affect the overall trend. Overall, the consistent increase in iron prices across the majority of districts indicates rising material costs, with stronger price pressure evident during the latter part of the year.

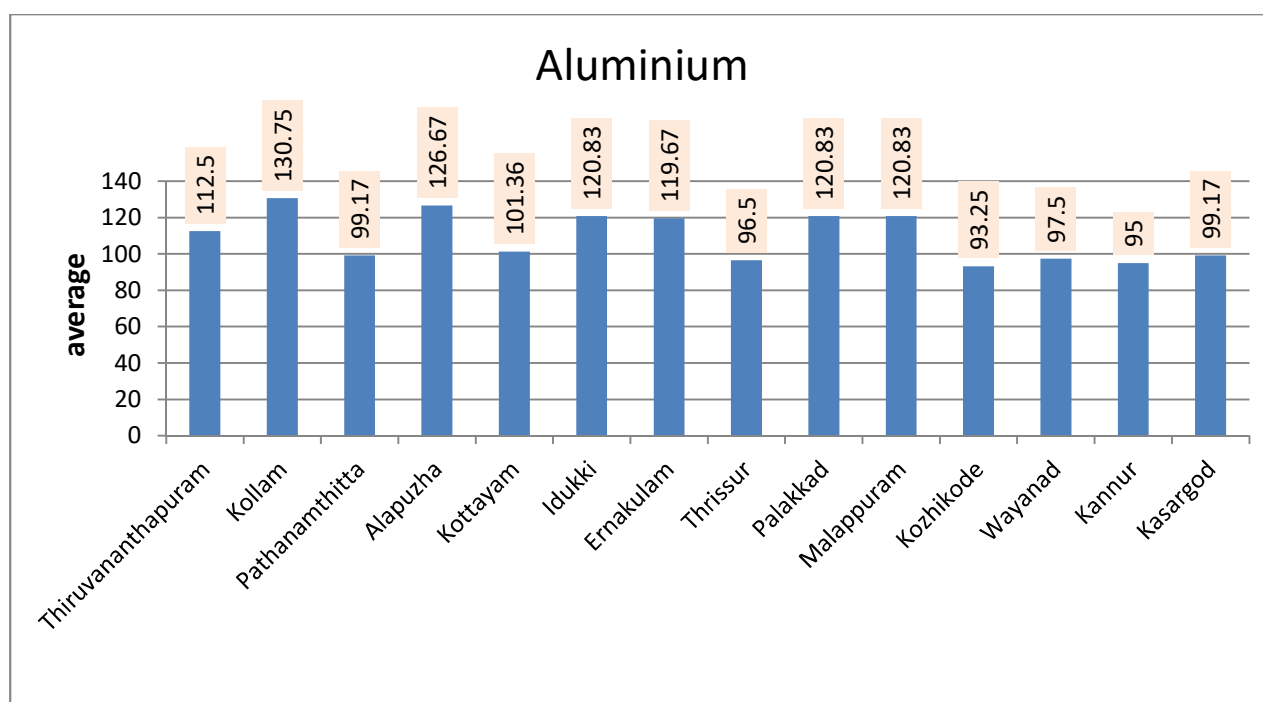

Table 246-illustrates the dataset pertaining to the REPORT OF Other Items.

Aluminium

The price trend of aluminium across the state shows a clear upward movement over the year, with stronger increases observed during the second half. At the state level, the average price rose steadily from ₹97.43 in January to ₹126.07 in October, remaining at a high level through November and December, and resulting in a yearly average of ₹109.57. Most districts recorded stable prices during the first half of the year, followed by sharp increases from August onwards. Districts such as Kollam, Alappuzha, Ernakulam, Idukki, Palakkad, and Malappuram experienced significant price rises, particularly during September to December. In contrast, districts like Thrissur, Kozhikode, Wayanad, and Kannur maintained comparatively lower price levels, though they also showed clear upward trends towards the end of the year. Temporary non-reporting in a few months did not materially affect the overall pattern. Overall, the consistent rise in aluminium prices across the majority of districts indicates increased input costs and market pressures, with pronounced price escalation evident in the latter part of the year.

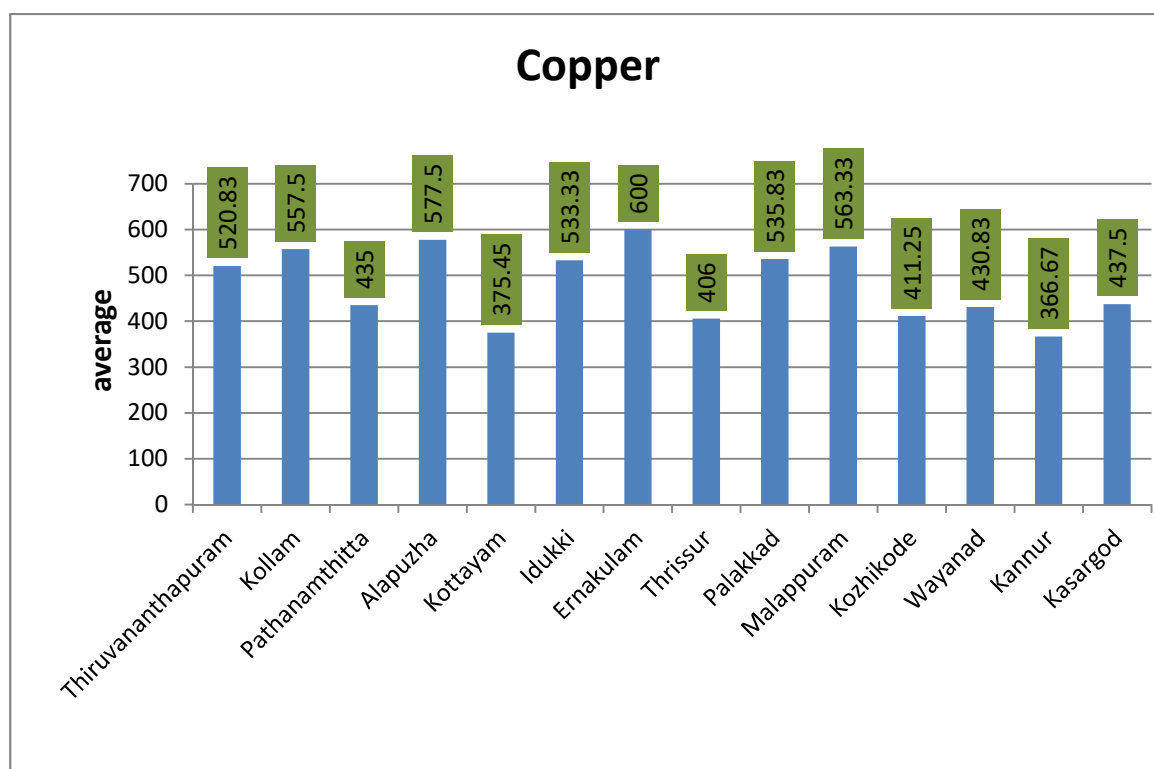

Table 247-illustrates the dataset pertaining to the REPORT OF Other Items.

Copper

During the year, copper prices showed a clear upward trend across the state, reflecting steady demand and rising market conditions. The State Average increased consistently from ₹401.43 in January to ₹548.93 in December, with the yearly average standing at ₹482.22. Lower prices were observed during the early months, particularly in districts such as Kannur, Thrissur, and Kottayam, indicating relatively weaker market rates at the beginning of the year. From March onwards, prices began to rise steadily, with a more pronounced increase during the second half of the year. Coastal and commercial districts like Ernakulam, Alapuzha, and Malappuram consistently recorded higher prices, peaking at ₹650 in Ernakulam and ₹650 in Alapuzha during December. Hilly districts such as Wayanad and Idukki also showed gradual increases, though at comparatively moderate levels. Overall, the price movement indicates a stable and strengthening copper market throughout the year, with significant escalation during the post-monsoon and year-end months.

Brass

Brass prices exhibited a steady and consistent upward trend across the state during the year. The State Average increased from ₹279.29 in January to ₹389.29 in December, with an overall yearly average of ₹336.23. Prices remained relatively moderate during the first quarter, particularly in districts such as Thrissur, Wayanad, and Kannur. From April onwards, a gradual rise was observed, with a more pronounced increase during the second half of the year. Commercially active districts like Alapuzha, Malappuram, and Kollam recorded higher prices, peaking at ₹450 in Alapuzha and ₹430 in Malappuram during the later months. Ernakulam and Palakkad also showed sustained increases, reflecting steady trading activity. Hilly and northern districts experienced comparatively lower prices but followed the overall rising trend. Overall, the price movement of brass during the year reflects a stable market with gradual strengthening, culminating in higher price levels towards the year end.

Bronze

Bronze prices across the state showed a clear upward trend over the year, reflecting steady demand and firm market conditions. The State Average rose from ₹293.21 in January to ₹393.57 in December, with an overall yearly average of ₹349.15. During the first quarter, prices increased gradually, while a more noticeable rise was observed from April onwards. Higher price levels were recorded in Alapuzha, Pathanamthitta, and Kasargod, indicating strong local demand, with Alapuzha reaching peak levels of ₹480 during October and December. Districts such as Kollam, Malappuram, and Palakkad also experienced consistent increases, particularly in the second half of the year. Lower price levels were observed in Thrissur, Wayanad, and Kannur during the early months; however, these districts also followed the general upward movement. Overall, the annual price behaviour of bronze suggests a stable and strengthening market, with prices firming up steadily towards the end of the year.

Steel

Steel prices in the state exhibited a clear rising trend over the year, indicating strengthening demand and increased market pressure, especially during the latter half of the period. The State Average increased steadily from ₹27.07 in January to ₹44.36 in December, with a yearly average of ₹35.23. Prices remained relatively stable and low during the first half of the year, followed by a sharp escalation from July onwards, peaking during October and November. Alapuzha, Palakkad, Ernakulam, and Kollam recorded comparatively higher price levels, with Alapuzha reaching a peak of ₹75 in November, reflecting strong local demand and supply constraints. Lower prices were observed in Wayanad, Kozhikode, and Pathanamthitta during the early months; however, these districts also experienced notable increases towards the end of the year. Overall, the annual price movement of steel reflects a firm and upward market trend, with significant price strengthening during the second half of the year.

Statement showing the average monthly Prices of different varieties of coir yarns prevailing at the coir Producing centres in kerala for the year of 2021

The price trend of coir yarns during the year shows a largely stable and steady market with minimal fluctuations across most varieties. The overall monthly average remained around ₹5,930 throughout the year, with a slight dip in May and a noticeable rise in December, when the average peaked at about ₹6,018, indicating marginal year-end strengthening. High-value varieties such as Anjengo 240, Koyilandy Retted (110–119), and Vettoor (SPL) 200 consistently recorded higher and stable prices, reflecting sustained demand and quality preference. Mid-range products like Vaikom Yarn (140, 160, 180, and 200) showed very limited variation, suggesting balanced supply conditions. Lower-priced unretted and traditional yarns, including Beypore unretted and Ratta Koyilandy unretted varieties, maintained uniform prices throughout the year. Overall, the data indicates a stable coir yarn market with firm prices, limited seasonal volatility, and consistent demand across different grades.

The average monthly wholsale Prices of coconut - husk (raw) which prevailed at the coir

Producing centres in kerala for the year of 2021

The price trend of raw coconut husk during the year indicates considerable spatial variation but an overall moderately stable pattern at the aggregate level. The monthly average prices remained broadly within the range of about ₹1,300 to ₹1,500, with the lowest average observed during June–July and a gradual recovery from August onwards, reaching higher levels in November and December. Several centres such as Kaniyapuram, Anchuthengu, Perunguzhi, and Kannanalloor consistently recorded higher prices, reflecting stronger demand or better quality availability, while locations like Pallaprum, Purang, Kadavanadu, and Kattikunnam remained at the lower price end throughout the year. Many markets showed stable prices for long periods, whereas a few centres experienced sharp mid-year fluctuations due to seasonal availability and local supply conditions. Overall, the yearly average price of around ₹1,394 suggests a steady market for raw coconut husk, with mild seasonal softening in the middle of the year and improved prices towards the year end.

Statement showing the average monthly wholsale Prices of coconut - husk (rotted) which prevailed at the coir producing centres in kerala for the year of 2021

The price trend of rotted coconut husk during the year shows moderate variation across markets where data were reported. Kaniyapuram recorded relatively stable prices from January to August at ₹3,400, followed by a decline during September–October and a slight recovery towards the end of the year, resulting in a yearly average of ₹3,168.56. Pachallur also showed steady prices up to August at ₹3,100, with a gradual fall in the later months, yielding a yearly average of ₹2,979.17. Anchuthengu reported comparatively higher prices throughout the year, with noticeable fluctuations and a peak in July, and recorded the highest yearly average of ₹3,692.08 among the reporting markets. Perunguzhi exhibited moderate price movements with a downward trend during the monsoon months and a yearly average of ₹3,203.33. Idinjumoola showed fluctuating prices with an upward movement towards the end of the year, resulting in a yearly average of ₹3,337.50. Most other markets did not report prices for the period, indicating limited availability or non-reporting of rotted coconut husk in those areas.

Price (qtl) sprinkle krystal

During the year, prices of Sprinkle and Krystal brands showed wide variations across districts. In Thiruvananthapuram, Sprinkle prices remained relatively stable, fluctuating marginally between ₹110 and ₹115, with a yearly average of ₹112.50. Kollam recorded sharp fluctuations for both KRYSTAL and Sprinkle brands, indicating market instability, while Alappuzha and Pathanamthitta reported consistently high Sprinkle prices throughout the year, each with yearly averages above ₹616. Kottayam and Palakkad showed moderate and relatively stable price movements, whereas Idukki and Ernakulam experienced noticeable declines during the later months. Thrissur prices remained comparatively low and stable, except for the lockdown period. Kozhikode recorded exceptionally high prices with significant volatility, resulting in the highest yearly average of ₹2,188.25. Northern districts like Wayanad, Kannur, and Kasaragod generally reported lower to moderate prices. Overall, the state average showed an upward tendency during the middle of the year and a peak in October, with a yearly average of ₹352.02, indicating moderate price pressure with significant inter-district variation.
