PREFACE

Women had been ostracized and being denied justice by the patriarchal societies in our State for a long time. The violence activities, the defamatory comments, inappropriate behaviour and sexual assaults against women are still prevailing covertly and overtly in every nook and cranny of our Society. Empowering women is the only solution for all questions and it is also an aid to help women to achieve equality with men or, to reduce gender gap considerably. Women contribute a lot directly or indirectly for the economic and social development of our State. For this, our Government has implemented a number of schemes and programmes through the Social Justice Department and other departments and agencies to trim down gender discrimination and to uplift them to live with self-respect and to improve economics status of the women.

The Gender Equality and Women Empowerment (GEWE) Policy was approved by the Government of Kerala on 16th April 2015 to strengthen gender equality and women empowerment in the State .For the smooth implementation of this scheme in our State, a reliable database would be needed. Being the nodal agency for data collection and co-ordination in our State, the Department of Economics and statistics has been assigned to do this task and to put this issue in the spotlight. The Report on Gender Statistics 2015-16 has touched upon an array of topics such as violence against women, economic empowerment, leadership & participation, health, education etc. I am pretty sure that this report would be the cornerstone of the whole women oriented research programmes and it helps our Government to carry out women empowerment activities.

I would like to express my heartfelt thanks to Sri.Babu.P.V, Additional Director (General), who has not only played a decisive role, but also stood through thick and thin for bringing this report out and I also express my sincere thanks to all Officers and Staff of the Publication division who have played hard behind the scenes in preparation of this report .I would also acknowledged the significant contribution extended by various Government Departments bringing out this Publication.

I hope the report will be useful to planners, Policymakers and researchers and other data users.

Feedbacks for improvement are most welcome.

Introduction

Gender Statistics 2015-16 is one of the major initiatives of the department of Economics and Statistics in the area of social sector statistics. The State has given equal opportunities to our girls and women in the education and health sectors. But Women participation in the economic realm and in decision making in the public sphere is still low. Progress in Gender Equality and Women empowerment will be accessed by three dimensions, namely 1) Security and freedom from violence 2) Strengthened women's access, ownership and control over resources and capabilities and 3) Enhanced participation and voice of women in formal as well as informal social, political and economic institutions. The Gender Equality and Women Empowerment (GEWE) policy has approved by Government of Kerala in 2015 to strengthen Gender Equality and Women Empowerment in the State. The Gender Equality and Women empowerment policy throw light on the need of Gender Planning and Gender Budgeting which widely accepted as an approach to gender mainstreaming by recognizing gender inequalities which hampering economic growth and hindering social progress.

In 2015, Gender Equality and Women Empowerment (GEWE) Policy, a gender analysis has been carried out based on sex disaggregated or gender related data which is considered as the basic input for effective planning and budgeting. In the preliminary stage all available gender based data has been collected and disaggregated at district level. A regular system has to be evolved for updation of data and expand the coverage area. Gender statistics 2015-16 is the second publication in this series presented based on secondary data sources covering the following eleven chapters. Population and related Statistics, Health Statistics, Literacy and Education, Participation in Economy, Industries sector, Agriculture and Allied activities, Participation in decision making, Crime and Conviction, Welfare of SC /ST, Details of Beneficiaries under various Schemes and Disability Statistics.

CHAPTER IV

PARTICIPATION IN MANUFACTURING AND SERVICE SECTOR

Industries Sector

Although Women constitute half of the population, participation of Women in the formal sector is very few numbers and most of the Women who were engaged in productive sector is in informal sector in low profile the unorganized sector as casual or low profile own account enterprises or job.

Micro Small and Medium Enterprises (MSME) sector is an important employment generating sector with relatively lower capital investment and also help in industrialization of rural & backward areas, targeting various social groups like SC, ST, Women, Youth, Physically Handicapped etc. To reducing social/regional imbalances, assuring more equitable distribution of income and wealth. The remarkable growth of Women enterprises in Kerala is largely due to the implementation of Women Industries Programme (WIP) that offers various types of financial incentives to MSME units started by Women. It not only gives them an independent income but also provides self-reliance and social status. Promotion of self-employment of educated Women has additional advantage of creating more jobs for aspiring educated Women. Self-employed Women enterprises are creating employment particularly for Women in Rural area and uplift economic and social status of Women.

Growth of Women enterprises in SSI/MSME sector is remarkable. This is a positive sign of Women empowerment and gender equity. Women owned SSI/ MSME units are increasing at a rate faster than the general growth rate in the Small Scale Industrial sector of the State .

Cooperative sector is considered as the best type of organization which provides group entrepreneurship under departmental control. The Self Help Groups promoted by Local Governments forms a thrust for the promotion of cooperative units in the Women sector.

Moreover, Kerala has the highest proportion of Women in manufacturing sector, mainly because Women in Kerala historically dominated industries like coir, cashew, bamboo and handloom and to some extent fish-processing. All the traditional industries are facing serious threat due to unfair terms of trade, mechanization and product substitutes and substitution of machine-made and synthetic products. Due to adverse effects of both exogenous and endogenous situations female workforce in the unorganized manufacturing sector in Kerala has been at a dismal stage. It is evident that the household industry sector, largely comprising of cashew, coir and to some extent handlooms has witnessed a very sluggish growth of around one percent during the inter-censal period.

In the plantation sector, the tea industry, which is dominated in Wayanad and Idukki districts, continue to be the few existing industries where female employment is predominant. In fact, the existence of tea industry has been the main reason of the high levels of female economic activity and high female workforce participation rate in these two districts.

The interventions initiated after the formation of Kerala State Bamboo Mission include promoting cultivation of bamboo, creation of new designs for innovative products in the handicrafts sector along with appropriate skill development, promotion of bamboo based modern industries supported by technology adaptation and development. It is expected that this will bring in greater business opportunities at various levels, especially among Women and hence improve the living standards of the rural people, there by contributing to the overall growth of the sector..

CHAPTER VI

AGRICULTURE AND ALLIED ACTIVITIES

Agriculture and Allied Activities

Agriculture has been historically the mainstay of Kerala economy and traditionally, the most significant sector of Female employment, especially in the rural areas. However, it is evident from the census figures that women cultivators and agricultural laborers together account for 17.2 percent of the Female workforce as per 2011 Census. The nature and extent of women participation in agriculture varies from region to region.

Agriculture is no longer the main channel of employment among the Kerallite women. Only 3.7 per cent and 13.5 percent of Female main workers are from cultivators and agricultural labourers respectively. It is apparent that there has been a large-scale shift in Female labourers, particularly wage labour in agriculture. Female oriented labour activity in agriculture was mainly confined to the cultivation of food-crops, particularly paddy. Some activities in paddy cultivation, such as transplanting, weeding and harvesting are gradually give way for mechanisation.

Being highly market sensitive in nature and owing to more liberalized norms of international trade and commerce since 1991, had prompted large scale switch over to commercial, perennial and annual crops like Rubber, Banana, coconut, condiments and spices etc. As fallout Female wage labour has thus been largely replaced by hired Male labour, mostly from migrant agricultural labourers.

Fisheries sector also occupies a very important place in the socio-economic development of the State. Kerala is also blessed with a large number of water bodies' fresh water and brackish water- rivers, interconnected backwaters (Kayals), estuaries & backwaters. The State is also endowed with vast resources in terms of ponds & tanks, rivers & canals, reservoirs, lakes and other water bodies having immense scope for development of fisheries to strengthen the food security, generate employment opportunities and earn foreign exchange with the ultimate objective of improving the socio economic status of fishers and other people engaged in the sector.

Fishing has been the primary source of livelihood in the coastal province of Kerala. The fisherwomen in Kerala play an important role in the fisheries sector in terms of their involvement in fishery related activities viz., fish vending, fish drying, prawn peeling, sorting, grading, fish packing, and net making. The role of women in the economic activities of coastal fishing communities supplements the region's livelihood. Women are usually engaged in the processes that begin with the arrival of fresh catch on the beaches and end in the markets.

CHAPTER VII

PARTICIPATION IN DECISION MAKING

Women's Participation in Decision Making

To measure Women's empowerment, Gender Empowerment measurement (GEM) takes three indicators, Women's participation in economic, political and professional activities. Within political power what is measured is mainly Women in parliament, Legislative Assemblies judiciary or in local bodies. It is also now often pointed out that Women's empowerment must be seen as a process where in we must consider Women's awareness, consciousness, choices with live alternatives, resources at their disposal, voice, agency and participation. These are all related to enhancement of Women's capabilities and decisions they take individually or collectively for themselves. Women representation is limited and inadequate in political parties, trade unions and in other positions of political power as well as in decision making processes in professional bodies. Women representation both in mass organizations and high level committees of political parties is not up to the expected level. The State is moving ahead by 50 per cent representation for the Women was made mandatory to local governments and ensure reservation in Grama Panchayat President post, Municipality Chairpersons and Corporation Mayor post.

CHAPTER XI

DISABILITY STATISTICS

Disability Statistics

Across the world people with disabilities have poorer health outcomes, lower educational achievements, less economic participation and higher rate of poverty than that of people without disabilities. This is partly because people with disabilities experience barriers in accessing services that many of us have long taken for granted, including health, education, employment and transportation as well as information. These difficulties are exacerbated in less advantaged communities.

In order to achieve the long lasting, vastly better development prospects, we must empower people with disabilities and remove the barriers which prevent them from participating in their communities for getting a quality education, finding a decent work and having their voice heard.

As per the U N convention of the rights of the persons with disabilities article 1 “Person with Disabilities include those who have long term physical, mental, intellectual or sensory impairments may hinder their full and effective participation in society on an equal basis with others” .In India as per the National Census 2011 the disabled population is 2.1% that comes 2, 68, 10557 and the Male female ratio is 58:42.

According to the 2011 census in Kerala there are about 7, 61843 disabled persons and out of that the Male population is 51.81% and female population is 48. 19%. The persons with disabilities deserve proper care, protection, training, employment and rehabilitation. Accurate and dependable data relating to the disabled population, type of disabilities, onset of disability, possible causes of disabilities, rural and urban population, their economic status etc. are highly essential for proper planning, framing of policies, and developing programmes in a focused manner at State and Local level.
