SHORT HISTORY

Wayanad is located at a distance of 75 K.M from Calicut and lies at a height of 700-2000 mts above sea level. Wayanad, with its scenic beauty and wild life became prominent in the tourist map of Kerala. Also it is the main route connecting Calicut with the other South Indian tourist attraction Mysore, Ooty and Bangalore. This land is rich in natural wonders with a vast area of greenery. Spice scented breeze, mist capped mountains salubrious climate and hypnotizing scenic beauty. The backward district is one of the biggest foreign exchange earners of the state, being the land of cash crops of pepper, cardamom, coffee, tea, and other spices. It is a homeland of various tribal communities. No other district in Kerala has such diversity in terms of its history and culture, customs and traditions, archeology and anthropology, wild life and forest.

Brief History of The District

In ancient times the land was ruled by the 'Vedas' Rajas. Later this land came under the rule of Pazhassi Rajah of Kottayam Royal Dynasty. Though Mysore ruler Hider Ali invaded Wayanad he brought it under his sway. In the days of Tippu Sultan it was restored to the Kottayam Royal Dynasty. But as per the Sreerangapatanam truce Tippu handed over the entire Malabar region to the British. This was followed by fierce encounter between the British and Kerala Varma Pazhassi Raja. With the help of 'Kurichya' tribal, Pazhassi organized guerilla type encounters with the British. In the end Pazhassi Raja killed himself and Wayanad fell into the hand of British.

The British rule make a new turn in the history of Wayanad. The British authorities opened up this land for cultivation of tea and other cash crops. They laid roads across the dangerous slopes of Wayanad from Calicut and Thallessery. These roads are extended to Mysore and Ooty through Gudallur.

When the state of Kerala came into being in 1956 Wayanad was a part of Kannur district. In 1957, South Wayanad was added to Kozhikode district and north Wayanad remained with Kannur district. By amalgamating the north Wayanad and south Wayanad the present Wayanad district came into being in the 1st November 1980 comprising of three taluks viz. Vythiri, Mananthavady and Sultan Batheri.

Area And Population

The district has an area of 2131 square kilometers with a total population of 780619. As per 2001 census sex ratio is 995 per 1000 males. The density of population is 366 per sq.kms. The decadal census shows an increasing tendency in the density of population. One important characteristic feature of this district is the large Adivasi population, consisting mainly on Paniyar, Adiyar, Kattunayakan and Kurichiyans. Among the districts in Kerala, Wayanad stands first in the case of Adivasi population. SC and ST population comes 4% and 17% respectively of the total District population.

Wayanad lies between north latitude 11. 27' and 15 .58' and east longitude 75. 47'and 70. 27'. It is bounded on the east by Nilgiris and Mysore districts in Tamilnadu and Karnataka respectively, on the north by Kodagu district of Karnataka, on the south by Malappuram and on the west by Kozhikode and Kannur. Wayanad district stands in the southern tip of the Decan Plateau and its chief glory in the majestic Western Ghats with lofty ridges interspersed with dense forest, tangled jungles and deep valleys. In the centre of the district hills are lower in height while the northern area has high hills and they give a wild and mountainous appearance. The eastern area is flat and open.

Mountains

Chembra peaks(2345m), Vellarmala(2145m), Banasuramala(2061m), Elembilerimala(1839), Brahmagiri mala(1608m), Kunnelipadimala (1607m), Thariodemala(1553) etc are some important mountains in the district. Trekking to the Chembra peak is a mountaineering Endeavour.

Rivers

Kabani river, one of the three east flowing rivers of Kerala, is an important tributary of the river Cauvery. Kabani and its tributaries constitute a powerful river system in the landscape of Wayanad.

Panamaram rivulet takes its origin from 'Pookode' lake. And Mananthavady rivulet takes its origin from 'Thondernadu' peak. After flowing some distance, these rivers join and from this confluence onwards the river is known as Kabani. Almost the entire Wayanad district is drained by Kabani and its tributes. In this regard, Kalladi river and Venniyode river is to be remembered

Climate

The distance from the mean sea level and surrounding forest creates a salubrious climate. Lakkidi in Vythiri taluk has the highest average rainfall in Kerala. High velocity winds are common during the south west monsoon and dry winds blow in March-April.

Generally the year is classified in four seasons namely, cold weather (December-February), hot weather (March-May), Southwest monsoon (June-September) and northeast monsoon (October-November). Wayanad experience a high relative humidity.

Forest

Wayanad is a land of forest, which account for 37% of the total area of the district. Most of the reserve forests in the state are in this district. In the 20864 hectares of reserve forest, the major portion is teak plantation. We can see the bonnet monkeys, Loris, Mongoose, Jungle cats, Squirrel, Jackals, and Hares etc. in forest.

The back bone of the economy of this district is plantation crops- Tea, Coffee, Pepper, Rubber etc.. This sector has a major contribution to the state income. Coffee based farming system is a notable feature of Wayanad. Coffee is grown both as pure crop and mixed crop along with pepper. Pepper is grown largely along with coffee in the northeastern parts of the district.

The field of Wayanad is the valleys formed by hillocks. At present Paddy growing area is remarkably decreasing. Ginger cultivation in Wayanad has also substantially increased in recent times. Ginger produced is mainly marketed in the form of green ginger. The frequent draught and flood since 2000 has affected the production of different crops very severely. Banana is cultivated abundantly in this district.

Besides this different diseases affected to the crops especially pepper, ginger, arecanut and coconut, resulted in the suicide of more than 500 poor farmers.

Irrigation

Major irrigation project in this district is Karapuzha Irrigation project. It is the first irrigation project taken up in Wayanad. It was commissioned in 2005. Wayanad is mainly drained by Kabani river and its tributes namely Panamaram, Mananthavady and Thirunelli. Bhanasura Sagar hydro-electric project and Mananthavady hydro-electric project are two hydro-electric projects in Wayanad district.

Industry

Wayanad is backward in the case of Industries. There are no such major industrial units except tea processing factories, timber mills, and rice mills. improve the quality of education the district has been brought under the special scheme of District Primary Education Project, funded by World Bank. Health problems are common among the tribes. Anemia and Vitamin-A deficiency affects the tribal children who are malnourished and under nourished. Wayanad Health Project, situated at Nallurnad, provides facilities for the diagnosis and treatment of major tribal diseases. State Government has started a centre for tribal medicine at the hamlet of Vallad. A district hospital and a T.B centre are functioning at Mananthavady.
